LAW SCHOOL SENATE ADOPTS RESOLUTION

Action Would Make Administration Of Honor System More Stringent

PROVIDES HEAVY PENALTY

Students Violating System May Be Recommended To Faculty For Dismissal

According to a resolution recently adopted by the Law School Senate of George Washington University, students violating the honor system in effect in that department of the University will be called before the Senate at a special meeting, reprimanded and their names made public. If the infraction of the honor system occurs after a student has been registered in the University for a period of six months, his immediate expulsion will be recommended to the faculty by the Law School Senate.

The honor system has been recognized in the George Washington Law School since a resolution of the Law School Senate of December 7, 1921, was adopted by the student body. The administration of the system is placed in the hands of the Law School Senate.

According to the resolution recently adopted, the honor system must be explained by a member or members of the Senate to the first-year class within a month of the beginning of the academic year, and before the mid-year examinations, beginning in January, 1925, the honor system must be explained orally by a member or members of the Senate to all classes in the Law School.

The resolution adopted by the Senate and the honor system in effect in the Law School follow:

Be it resolved by the Law School Senate of the George Washington University Law School in regular meeting assembled this tenth day of December, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, That hereafter each fall and within a month of the beginning of the academic year, the honor system, as adopted by the student body of the University by popular vote, shall be orally explained by a member or members of the Senate to the first-year class; the members of which shall be advised that any infraction of the honor system is a reflection, not only upon the individual, but upon the entire student body of the Law School and the profession, and that to protect himself and others from unscrupulous competition both in school and in professional life, any student observing an infraction of the honor system is in honor bound to report such infraction to the Senate, or some member thereof, or to the Dean of the Law School.

And be it further resolved, That before the mid-year examinations, beginning in January, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, the honor system shall be orally explained in the manner above provided, to all classes in the Law School.

And be it further resolved, That infractions of the honor system shall be subject to the following penalties:

1. If occurring during the first six months of the student's enrollment, he shall be reprimanded by the chairman of the Senate at a meeting of the Senate called to consider his case, and his name shall be publicly posted upon the school bulletin board for not less than one month.
2. If occurring after the student has been enrolled for a period of six months, his immediate expulsion shall be recommended to the faculty.

The Honor System

The honor system, by adoption of the student body, is in effect in this school, placing the responsibility for rectitude in examinations, recitations and scholastic conduct upon the students.

The administration of this system, by vote of the student body, is entrusted to the Law School Senate. Action in connection with any violation of the principles of this system is, therefore, in the hands of that body.

GALA PROGRAM PLANNED FOR SPANISH CLUB MEET

Senor Davila, Resident Commissioner of Porto Rico, has been invited to give the principal address at a special meeting and entertainment to be given by the Spanish Club in Corcoran Hall on January 12. Professor Jose Lorenz, of the Washington Missionary College, will also speak; Vera Bailey Berlinger will dance a Spanish Fandango, and Ruthellen Ward will sing melodies of old Spain.

Another added attraction planned for the evening will be several musical selections by the Aloha Players. All those interested in spending a pleasant evening in old Spain at a Corcoran Hall are invited to attend. Malita Chavez is in charge of the entertainment.

NEW LAW BUILDING NAMED STOCKTON HALL

Name Chosen In Honor Of Noted Sea Lawyer, For Nine Years President Of G. W.

Stockton Hall, chosen in honor of the late Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, president of George Washington University from 1909 to 1918, is the name by which the new Law School building, now under construction, will be known, according to action taken by the Board of Trustees. Admiral Stockton has been considered one of the great benefactors of the University, and it is a fitting tribute to his service that the building should bear his name.

Admiral Stockton was retired from the service in 1907, and in 1909 accepted the presidency of George Washington University, serving the first three years without pay. At the time Admiral Stockton entered upon his duties the financial condition of the University was very critical and there was a grave question whether it would have to close its doors entirely. During his tenure of office he placed the University, probably for the first time in its history, in a perfectly sound financial position and so left it when he retired from office.

Admiral Stockton based his administration of the University upon three cardinal principles: that expenses must be measured by receipts and there must be no annual deficit; the immediate future of the University is as a city university ministering to the needs of students residing here either permanently or temporarily; and that the surplus earnings of each department of the University must be reserved separately for that department. It was a result of his ability that the University was started again on the road to greater development.

Beginning his service in 1864 while in his third year in the Naval Academy, Admiral Stockton has a distinguished career as a naval officer and as a master of international law. He was author of the Naval War Code and also of Outlines of International Law, published soon after the outbreak of the late World War. He was president of the War College at Newport from 1897 to 1901, where he distinguished himself as a lecturer on international law. Upon his death last June, the New York Times said of Admiral Stockton that "he was a great sea lawyer as well as a capable and energetic officer with a creditable service afloat."

PLAN LECTURE SERIES FOR WOMEN STUDENTS

A series of monthly supper meetings for women interested in or majoring in political science, commerce or economics, is being arranged by Anna L. Rose, dean of women. Prominent women speakers will be secured to address these meetings on interesting topics dealing with these subjects.

The first of these supper meetings will be held Friday evening at 7.15 in the University cafeteria, the old Rabbit Hole. Subsequent meetings will be held the first Friday in each month. The speaker secured for the Friday meeting is Mrs. Florence Kelley, national secretary of the Consumers' League. Mrs. Kelley is a very interesting speaker.

These meetings, although not restricted to women, are intended primarily for the women of the University. Only a limited number can be accommodated in the Rabbit Hole for supper, and Dean Rose has therefore asked those expecting to attend to make reservations early.

SELECT TWO TEAMS OF MEN DEBATERS

Two Teams Chosen To Represent University In Intercollegiate Circles

DEBATE COURT QUESTION

Will Meet Princeton Team Here On Eve Of Presidential Inauguration

With 16 candidates competing, tryouts for the men's varsity debating team were held in the assembly room of Corcoran Hall, Monday night, December 22. Both affirmative and negative teams were chosen by judges Dean Hugh Miller, Dr. Warren R. West, professor of political science, and Philip Barnard, coach.

The affirmative team will be composed of K. R. Miller, John T. Trimble and W. R. Ogg, with H. Claggett as alternate. Those chosen for the negative side were Ray C. Crowell, C. L. Hoagland and R. M. Faulkner, with Robert S. Ward as alternate.

Contestants were allowed five minutes to speak and were permitted to take either side of the question, "Resolved, That Congress should have the power by a two-thirds vote to declare effective a law previously declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court." All students in good standing at the University, without regard to their college, were permitted to participate.

The teams chosen will meet each Thursday night for practice. Following the tryouts, Coach Philip Barnard gave a short talk to the successful candidates, emphasizing the vast amount of preparation ahead of the team. As a preliminary assignment, he asked that each member of the varsity prepare an extensive written brief on the question.

The debating schedule, according to Edwin Bettelheim, manager, is in a tentative state, although it has been definitely decided that we will debate Princeton here on March 3, Inauguration eve. Among other large eastern universities that we will debate are Syracuse (at Washington), North Carolina (at Washington), University of Virginia (at Charlottesville), and Pennsylvania State (at Pennsylvania).

PLANS ALL COMPLETED FOR BIG SENIOR BALL

Novel Decorations To Conceal Identity And Convert Gym Into Dance Hall

All kinds of rumors are afloat as to the nature of the Senior Ball which will be given Friday evening, January 16, in the new gymnasium, by the Senior Classes of all departments of the University. Whether there will be any surprises or not is being kept secret by the committees in charge, but it is evident from the elaborate preparations being made that the Senior Ball will be one of the outstanding social functions of the year.

Mary Bixler, chairman of the Committee on Decorations, has secured the services of a number of other committeemen, and with many novel suggestions for color and lighting schemes it is expected that the gymnasium will be transformed into a very attractive ballroom.

Committees have been appointed with three members from the Senior Class in each college, making committees of 15 members each, each college furnishing one committee chairman, with Harold Young as chairman of the ball.

Tickets have been placed on sale and may be secured from all committee members, from the Treasurer's office, and the offices of the Law School and Medical School.

ALCHEMISTS TO MEET

The Alchemists Club will meet Thursday evening, January 8, at 7.45, in the Quantitative Laboratory of Corcoran Hall. The meeting will be devoted to discussing plans for the Alchemists Banquet to be given in the near future, and also to the discussion of Cherry Tree pictures. All members are urged to be present.

ENGLISH UNIVERSITY HEAD OPENS LECTURE SERIES

A special series of lectures in history to be given during the coming semester by prominent historians under the auspices of George Washington University has been announced by University officials. The first lecture in the series will be given by C. Grant Robertson, C. V. O., head of the University of Birmingham, England, in Corcoran Hall on Tuesday evening, January 6. The subject announced is "The New Map of Europe and European Civilization." The lecture will be illustrated.

A complete announcement of the remaining lectures in the series will be made in the near future. These lectures will be open to all students of the University interested in these subjects, as well as to the general public of Washington.

NATIONAL FRATERNITY HONORS LAW GRADUATE

Engineering Student Also Wins Recognition Because Of High Scholarship

James E. Stevens, George Washington University Law School '24, was elected Arch Master of the Theta Upsilon Omega National Fraternity at their annual convocation held January 2-4 at the Temple University chapter house in Philadelphia. Stevens, besides being a member of the graduating class last year, was one year president of the Columbian Debating Society, was on the intercollegiate debating team in 1923, and active in other student activities. He was one of the founders and first president of the local chapter at George Washington which last year became a charter chapter of Theta Upsilon Omega.

Adrian Busick, a member of the Sophomore Class of the Engineering College, was another George Washington man honored at the Theta U. convocation when he was conducted through the model initiation by the national officers after having been selected as having the highest scholastic average of any Theta U. pledge in all the universities in which the fraternity is established. His average is 94.

Two new chapters were also granted charters by the fraternity at its January convocation, one the Tilicum Club of the University of California, at Berkeley, organized in 1913 with an active and alumni membership of over 150, and the other at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Both chapters own their own houses. It is also interesting to note that Miami University is the birthplace of four national fraternities, Beta Theta Pi, founded in 1839; Phi Delta Theta, founded in 1848; Sigma Chi, founded in 1855; and Phi Kappa Tau, founded in 1906.

SIGMA NU PLAYS SANTA TO 20 ORPHAN CHILDREN

Delta Pi Chapter of the Sigma Nu Fraternity made "Merry Christmas" a reality for 20 orphans of the Central Union Mission at a Christmas party given them December 25 at the chapter house. "Tubby" Fletcher, in the role of Santa Claus, would have made the original St. Nick turn green with envy.

The kiddies were first given an old-fashioned Christmas dinner, with everything from turkey to plum pudding. Then there was the Christmas tree, and presents for each of the orphans. The hosts enjoyed themselves as much as their tiny guests. When the afternoon was growing late, the kiddies departed, each with his "tummy" stuffed with goodies and a renewed belief in Santa Claus.

SONG PROGRAM FEATURES FIRST CHAPEL PROGRAM

Charles Trowbridge Tittman in a program of songs featured the opening assembly yesterday after the Christmas holidays. Mr. Tittman, who is one of the most prominent and talented of Washington singers, has a splendid bass voice. He was enthusiastically received by the students, who seemed particularly to like his "Me and My Little Banjo," which was repeated upon request as an encore. He was ably accompanied at the piano by George H. Thompson.

SCIENTISTS MEET IN CORCORAN HALL

Society For Advancement Of Science Meets In Washington For Fifth Time

ELECT PUPIN PRESIDENT

Several G. W. Faculty Members Among The 4,500 Attending Meetings In Washington

The Fifth Washington Meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was held here last week, bringing from all parts of this country and from Canada some of the most distinguished representatives of science in the world. Four thousand two hundred members attended the meetings, 770 of these being from the District. New York had the second greatest registration with 580 representatives present. This was the seventy-ninth meeting of the Association and one of the larger four-yearly gatherings.

The scientists were welcomed by President Lewis at the first program held in Continental Memorial Hall last Monday evening. In opening his brief address, Dr. Lewis said: "On behalf of those in Washington who have had the arrangements for this meeting in charge, I wish to extend to you a most hearty welcome to the nation's capital and to assure you that the doors of its various scientific and other educational institutions swing wide for you. No place, it seems to us, could be more fitting for the gathering of scientific men and women than this city which is becoming more and more in truth not only the political capital of the nation but its scientific capital as well. Here we have gathered in the civil service a constantly increasing proportion of scientists. Here we have, I believe, more members of your Association than are found in any like population in the United States."

Following the formal welcome by President Lewis, the many meetings of the main body and the many associated societies began. Many of these meetings were held in the classrooms of Corcoran Hall, while others were accommodated at Central High School.

One of the features of the week was the reception of the members by President Coolidge on the south side of the White House grounds last Wednesday. The number of scientists who heard the President's address has been estimated at 3,000. Mr. Coolidge emphasized the ever-increasing value of the achievements of science in the last two decades and its overwhelming importance in the life of today.

Election of officers for the year 1925, which was held at the end of the week, resulted in the choosing of Michael I. Pupin, professor of electromechanics at Columbia University, as president; W. J. Humphreys, professor of astronomy at George Washington University, as general secretary; Burton E. Livingston, of Johns Hopkins University, as permanent secretary; John L. Wirt, of the Carnegie Institution, as treasurer, and B. M. Duggar of St. Louis, Edwin B. Wilson of Harvard, and Dr. Vernon Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich., as members of the executive committee.

Dr. Pupin, the new president of the Association, is internationally recognized as one of the foremost physicists. He came to this country as an immigrant, studying at Columbia University, and finally achieving fame as professor and inventor.

Dr. Humphreys, a George Washington man, represents also the United States Weather Bureau. John L. Wirt is connected with the Carnegie Institution. The permanent secretary, Burton E. Livingston, is the only officer to be reelected. He has held this position for years.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science has been active in its field since 1848, when the first meeting was held in Philadelphia. Since then there have been 79 meetings, held annually except during the period of the Civil War when they were discontinued. Five of these meetings have taken place in Washington, in the years 1854, 1891, 1902, 1911 and 1924.

A summary of the aims and work of the Association was given out re-

THE FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

In reading over the 1925 football schedule for George Washington, followers of the team have been greatly disappointed in finding that several of last year's opponents have been dropped and teams of lesser standing have been scheduled in their place.

This cannot be attributed to the fact that our team made such a deplorable showing that we are not wanted, or we so outplayed our opponents that we stepped out of their class. Can it be that certain unsatisfactory conditions existed during the playing of the games that warranted this action? Hardly this. No university would be so narrow as to hold a team responsible for the actions of incompetent officials whom they had trusted, and our relations with all teams last year were certainly congenial.

Then what was the purpose of dropping these teams and picking teams of lesser standing? That is the question in every student's mind.

It was expected from the many statements that George Washington was progressing, not retrogressing. We had expected to see a team developed here that would be capable of meeting better teams. This was expected—but evidently the expectation has been greater than the realization.

Persons will undoubtedly be branded as iconoclasts who dare to criticize the 1925 schedule, but who can blame one from mentioning a few things when their hopes of development have been so sadly shattered in this fashion?

Developing is not winning games by a large score when the team beaten is below our standing, while losing to the same teams would but push us back further in our struggle to gain prominence—prominence for the University, not individuals.

The students do not believe that losing a game to a well-known university is detrimental to the progress of the team or its system of coaching.

The St. Joseph game has been dropped, Delaware is no longer on the schedule, Western Maryland is off, Columbian University and Urban University are not scheduled, but in their place Temple University and teams of similar standing.

It is this which tends to lead the students to believe that we lack confidence in our ability to compete with good schools, and to continue with such a program will but force students to lack confidence in their team.

The growth of George Washington University creates the necessity for a more satisfactory schedule and the student body's demand to abandon preparatory schools for colleges is just.

The abolition of the council, universal activities assessments, an unsatisfactory football schedule, and the spirit of "I've got mine, now you get yours," is certainly not helping to promote athletics.

There is one thing of which to be certain, if we can rely on the 1925 schedule, George Washington will need no higher caliber for football material to win their games than that demanded by the high schools or prep schools in the city.

Winning games on the present schedule will not advance our prestige as a University.

FACULTY RECOGNITION

At last the faculty have taken definite steps toward the recognition of deserving students for participation in those student activities for which no distinction in the form of letters or certificates is given. In view of the effort during the past two years to interest students in some branch of extra-curricular activities this step will have a far-reaching effect.

In years past George Washington, in common with many other institutions, has given no recognition to that great mass of students working faithfully in those fields of activity such as debate, publications, musical and dramatic organizations and those numerous clubs and societies whose primary interests are to promote greater interest in student activities. These students have gone forth from the University with nothing to show for their work but the memory of long nights and hard days of tiresome and oft-times fruitless labors. Many hours are spent by members of the intercollegiate debating teams in strenuous preparation for some debate which has attracted little interest from the students and little recognition from the faculty members—and none from any official source. Editors and managers of publications have spent many weary hours only to have the product of their labors receive wholesale criticism from the student body and oft-times censure from the faculty. Class officers, committee chairmen, leaders and officers in practically every type of student organization have met the same reward.

In all schools where athletics are considered as an organized sport numerals, letters or certificates are awarded to the competitors. With the exception of track, where letters are awarded on the basis of points won in actual competition, most athletic organizations grant letters upon a basis of contests entered. Few institutions award any mark of distinction for competition in other lines of activities.

Yet the gold Hatchet which will be awarded by the faculty will be placed upon such a basis of merit that only the most deserving will receive them, and then only after sufficient work has been done. Those receiving the coveted award will regard it as one of the greatest honors his school can confer for participation in student activities.

SCIENTISTS MEET IN CORCORAN HALL

cently when advance programs of the meetings were distributed to members. "The American Association for the Advancement of Science aims to promote intercourse among those who are cultivating science in different parts of America, to cooperate with other scientific societies and institutions, to give a stronger and more general impulse and more systematic direction to scientific research, and to procure for the labors of scientific men increased facilities and a wider usefulness. It has played a prominent role in the progress of science and of education in general. Invaluable to scientific men, its influence for rationality and the scientific method of thought has become inevitably incorporated into the structure of American institutions and American civilization."

EXCHANGES

The University of Kansas has just put on a unique event in the form of a Dad's Day banquet. It was held on a Saturday evening in their Commons Hall, where they served 378 dads and sons, the largest crowd ever accommodated. A prize of a University shield was given to the fraternity having the largest percentage of dads present.

Cosmopolitanism is on the decrease in Harvard, according to the figures printed by the foreign students' secretary. The considerable variety of last year—43 countries had been represented—has been replaced by an increased registration of American students, so that now only 34 foreign countries are represented.

An automatic ink receptacle for filling fountain pens has recently been installed in one of the main halls of the University of Montana. This new fountain pen filler furnishes ink to the students free of charge. It is of simple construction, appearing as a miniature cash register.

The University of Florida is distinguished by having on the faculty of its Arts and Science College a greater percentage of men holding the degree of doctor of philosophy than any other university in the entire country, with the exception of Yale and Leland-Stanford.

Students of the sociology classes of Willamette University, Salem, Ore., will soon make a sociological survey of social conditions in the city of Salem. The survey will be divided into several fields, including commercial and labor organizations, health, municipal government, population, nationality, religion, education, transportation and financial resources, and will be conducted under the direction of Pi Gamma Mu and three members of the faculty. The survey will take about six months, after which a definite constructive community program will be mapped out on the basis of the findings of the investigation.

Kansas State Agricultural College has established a radio college which will broadcast 40 college extension courses during the next eight months.

Radio will also be used by Mercer University, Macon, Ga., in broadcasting a series of four college courses. Students in the radio classes will be asked to send in their names, reports on home assignments, and requests for additional courses.

It has recently been reported that the Exalted Order of the Ku Klux Klan has been incorporated for over a year in Albany, N. Y., in the guise of a Greek letter fraternity known as Alpha Pi Sigma. Much indignation has been caused in legal circles as a result of the report.—New Student.

Twenty Coe College freshmen were recently brought before a group of upperclassmen and forced to run a gauntlet of well-manned hardwood paddles for failure to wear regulation Freshmen caps.

Two New Fraternities

Two new national college fraternities have been organized at the sixteenth annual Interfraternity Conference held in New York, November 27 and 28. The two new fraternities are Delta Alpha Pi and Eta Omega Delta, the former with chapters at Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio State and Purdue and the latter with chapters at the Colorado School of Mines, Denver University and San Diego.

More than fifty fraternities were present at the New York Conference, representing a hundred institutions of learning and 500,000 fraternity men.—New Student.

Haughton Memorial

Classmates of Percy D. Haughton who graduated from Harvard in 1899 are attempting to raise funds to erect a memorial at Cambridge to the former Columbia mentor. A thousand letters have been mailed to Harvard alumni and former football players whom Haughton had coached. The signers of the letters were classmates and gridiron pupils of "P. D." The communication reads in part as follows: "We believe that most of the men who were associated with Percy Haughton will wish to share in this tribute. It would serve as an inspiration to future teams and as a permanent remembrance of one who stood pre-eminently for the best type of clean, manly sport."—The New Student.

Millions For Education

Modest little Trinity College, Durham, North Carolina, may become the cultural center of the south and be to that section what Harvard and Yale are to the east, if it will consent to take on the name of its benefactor, James B. Duke, tobacco king and owner of a large electric power corporation in the south. If Trinity College does not desire to become Duke University, Mr. Duke has set aside $6,000,000 to immediately purchase a grant of land and initiate construction upon a brand new Duke University.

James B. Duke has established a trust fund of $40,000,000 to be used for the benefit of Duke University, Davidson College, Furman University and Johnson C. Smith University of North Carolina, and numerous churches, orphan asylums and hospitals.

Coincident with the Duke's endowment, comes the announcement by George Eastman, of kodak fame, of a gift of $15,000,000 to be distributed among four institutions: University of Rochester, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Hampton Institute and Tuskegee Institute. Mr. Eastman has already given over fifty millions, and announces that he has disposed of the major part of his holdings in the Kodak Company.—New Student.

THE LETTER BOX

Beginning with this issue, The Hatchet is going to try an experiment by starting a Letter Box, in order that students having the interest of the University at heart may have an opportunity to express to the student body any constructive criticisms or ideas they may have for the betterment of the University. Many letters are received by The Hatchet, but their worth is lost unless they can reach the student body.

Anonymous letters will not be printed. Neither will letters making malicious or defamatory attacks unless such attacks seem justified, and if feasible remedies are suggested. No letter making an unfriendly personal attack upon a fellow student or faculty member will be printed. Letters should be short; not more than 250 words.

The Letter Box is intended for the circulation of helpful and constructive ideas. Let's have them. Here is the first one.—Editor.

EDITOR THE HATCHET.

DEAR SIR: Here are a few things that, it occurs to me, are needed to improve the school spirit around G. W. First, we need an Alma Mater song—one that is sung at every assembly of students. Nothing is more inspiring than to see at the end of every football game the entire student body stand with bared heads until the last note of the old school song is sung.

The melody should be simple and slow. A large number of schools have the same; i. e., that of Cornell, Missouri and others; and no doubt G. W. could not do better than to adopt that. The words, however, should be distinctly G. W.'s, and should be stately and sublime. Among the 5,000 students there should be enough talent to compose the verses if the proposition could be put before them. Why not a little propaganda in The Hatchet along this line? Could you print the music to Cornell's "Hail to Thee," or "Old Missouri," and get up some sort of contest to get appropriate verses?

Besides, we need a band to lead us in our songs. We need to get our assistant cheer leaders out earlier in the season to get them more practiced in keeping up with the leader. It's a long time till the next season, but a little agitation along all these lines this year might bring some results that would be beneficial.

Yours for a greater G. W.,
F. P.

BASEBALL BATTERIES TO START PRACTICE SOON

To Install Cages In Gym This Week
Where Pitchers And Catchers
Will Work

Baseball practice will start early this week in the gymnasium when candidates for the battery will report for duty. About 15 men have signified that they will be on hand for mound duty, of which about eight men are expected to try out for the receiving end. Several of the pitchers and catchers are experienced men, and competition for these berths is sure to be keen.

Manager Ernest Klein has scheduled three games up to the present time and expects to close a number of others in the near future. He is handicapped by lack of appropriation for baseball, and for this reason most of the games will have to be played away from Washington. Games have been arranged with Gallaudet College, Juniata College, and with the strong Quantico Marine team.

This is the first time in years that George Washington University has been represented by a baseball team. The Engineers have had a team for several years, but expect to merge their team with the school team this year. Prospects for a successful season are very bright, and when weather opens up so that outdoors practice can be held, it is expected that a large number of candidates will report for the various positions. Just who will coach the team has not been decided.

Pitcher and catcher cages will be installed in the gymnasium for the use of the battery candidates, who are expected to work out several times a week. All candidates report to Manager Ernest Klein.

FIRST BASKETBALL GAME POSTPONED FOR PRESENT

Unable To Play Gallaudet Because Gym Being Used By Scientists,
For Exhibits

Instead of the cheers of George Washington ringing forth from the gymnasium last Saturday night, there reigned a silence produced by numbers of machines placed there by the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences, which body has used the gymnasium during the past week.

The first game on the schedule with Gallaudet was postponed. The game will probably be played some time next month.

Several of the George Washington squad have been spending the holidays at their respective homes, but all promised to do some work away. The remainder of the squad held three practices in the Y. M. C. A. gym.

Miss Oldum caught a burglar in her room and married him to reform him.

Billy: "And did it work?"

"Well, at least it taught him to be more careful."

Little Jimmie (to new caller): "Can't you talk, mister; really, can't you talk?"

New Caller: "Certainly, my boy; why do you ask?"

L. J. (disappointed): "Why, sister said you were too dumb for words."

"What's the difference between a Scotchman and a coconut?"

"Well, you can get a drink out of a coconut."

Taxi Driver (talking about his car to himself): "Wot a clutch!" Voice from cab: "Mind your own business."

"Do you love riding?"

"Yes, but it is easier when the car is stopped."

Spitz (to waitress in restaurant): "This won't do at all. Did you lay this table, girl?"

Waitress: "Yes, sir, I did, all except the egg."

—Ex.

Bride (to salesman): "Please, sir, I'd like a little oven."

Salesman: "Shhh. Not so loud. Wait until your husband leaves."

She said in a huff.

"I'll kiss you," said he,

"But you're made up enough."

Dab: "In my hat."

MEETING CALLED FOR FINAL ORGANIZATION

Local Body Of Episcopal Students Adopts Constitution And Minimum Program

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

Club Will Petition National Society Of Episcopal Clubs, For Membership

Officers will be elected and a working organization completed at the third meeting of the Episcopal Club of George Washington, to be held in Corcoran Hall, Room 29, Thursday, January 8, at 8 o'clock. All Episcopal students in the University, and those interested in the Episcopal faith, are invited to attend. The club is the first of its kind to be organized at George Washington, and may blaze the way for other sectarian societies in the University.

Although new to our campus, Episcopal clubs have long flourished at other universities, including the neighboring colleges of Johns Hopkins, Maryland University, and Goucher College. There is a national association of such societies, which the local club will petition for membership as soon as its organization is complete.

At the last meeting held December 18 a constitution was adopted, providing for officers, a board of advisors, a minimum program, and meetings on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Officers will consist of a president, two secretaries, a treasurer and a chaplain, the latter appointed by the Bishop of Washington.

The Board of Advisors will be composed of two clergymen and two laymen of the Episcopal Church, two members of the George Washington faculty, and the club chaplain. A minimum program was incorporated, including worship at least once a week, service, church extension, and religious study.

Membership is open to any student in George Washington of the Episcopal faith who is willing to affix his signature to the principles embodied in the constitution. Formal signing of the constitution will take place at the next meeting.

Stupid Stephen Says

With this issue of the Hatchet, Stupid Steve makes his appearance in the public prints after a prolonged sojourn on the shelf. As a broadcasting station of campus wit and humor the "colyum" attained great popularity under the able editorship of our esteemed friend Gene Sweeney. The present conductors hope that even a small part of the success which attended Mr. Sweeney's efforts may crown their work. We thank you.

Said Mary Kane, with tears in her eyes, to the waiter in Childs: "Give me something to remind me of my dear old dad."

So he brought her a hard boiled egg.

Ruth: "Are you keen for cross-word puzzles?"

Bob: "No, I'm off the women."

Sig Chi: "What did you think of our basketball team?"

Sig Ep: "The uniforms were pretty."

The Wandering Greeks gave a dance. It is reported that some of them are still wandering.

Dick (in Rabbit Hole): "Give me a sandwich for my girl."

Waitress: "Olive?"

Dick: "No, Grace."

Six cuts, no book.

The prof gives me a dirty look; But I shall pass the silly course, For my pocket stables a speedy horse (pony).

Steve apologizes for the above lines. They were inspired by University Cafeteria food.

Joe: "I think I'm going to have appendicitis."

Mrs. H.: "Oh, you do? Well, I think I'm going to have a new hat and your appendicitis can wait."

Stupid Steve's friend Dink Fowler is coming to G. W. He's so tough he wasn't born, he was quarried.

Frosh: "What do they mean by a 'smoke ball'?"

Soph: "Oh, any sorority dance."

Seven Of Listed Games Will Be Played On Home Court

With eleven games scheduled, the girls' basketball schedule for the season is practically completed. Three games, two with Wilson Normal and one with Gallaudet, are still pending, but it is expected that these dates will also be closed in the near future.

Practice was discontinued during the holidays, and Mary Jackson, women's athletic coach, has been away visiting several women's physical culture schools where she is getting pointers on the latest plays. With a good squad out, it is expected that she will be able to develop a strong combination to meet the competitors.

The schedule follows:

February 6—Wilson Normal (pending), at home.

February 10—Temple University, at Philadelphia.

February 14—Gallaudet, at home.

February 20—William and Mary, at Richmond.

February 21—West Hampton, at Richmond.

piece. Chi O. hopes for better luck with the next draft.

Dames that have cars—in the garage.

Dames that say: "Goodness, was that your ace?"

Dames that say: "Oh, you must rush for us."

Dames that say: "NO"—and mean it.

In Conclusion

Stupid Steve expects many commendatory letters on his "colyum." Any cake, candy or Christmas gifts should be delivered in person. All aged eggs, over-ripe tomatoes (soft "a" as in potato), etc., may be sent to the Registrar's office or China, it makes no difference. Steve intends to be fearless and impartial in his editorials and quips. He and Andy Gump wear no man's collar. He will disclose, in weeks to come, vast political plots at George Washington; great graft schemes and the astounding morals, or lack of them, within the University. He will, in short, open the eyes of thousands of our innocent, but dumb students.

PLAY FIRST COURT GAME WITH DAVIS-ELKINS HERE

Buff And Blue Basketeers Will Open Season Friday In New Gym

Friday night the brand-new George Washington University gymnasium will be officially dedicated to sports, when the Hatchet five meets the Davis-Elkins quintet. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Coach Daily has had his squad out almost every day for the past month, and expects to put a winning aggregation on the floor. He announces he will start Nichols at center, Reynolds and Neviasser at guard, and will select his forwards from Johnson, McNulty and V. Brown.

Little is known of the strength of the Davis-Elkins combination, but the Hatchetmen are prepared to give them a hard battle for top honors.

Student activity books will be honored as admittance to all home basketball games, and a good crowd is expected out Friday night to cheer the Buff and Blue to victory.

Student Council Reports Faculty

The names of two instructors of the University of Washington, reported as violators of the faculty ruling that instructors must not leave the classrooms during examinations, will be referred to the faculty by the senior council.

The senior council has no jurisdiction over the faculty's activities in regard to the honor code but it was the sentiment of the meeting that it must have the cooperation of the faculty.—The New Student.

DR. PUPIN ELECTED TO LEAD SCIENTISTS

Man With Imposing Record Of Scientific Contributions Rose From Ranks Of Peasants

WAS BORN IN HUNGARY

Professor Of Electro-Mechanics At Columbia Has Contributed Many Useful Inventions

From immigrant to college professor is the story of Michael Idvorsky Pupin, new president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, whose meetings were held here last week. Born in Hungary in 1858, and spending his childhood among other peasant boys in the usual occupation of tending the herds of oxen, Pupin has little in his early history that would give promise of the brilliant future before him. Looking at the Pupin of today, cultured, brilliant, an authority on electrical subjects, there is little reminiscent of the peasant lad.

In the gap between the Pupin of yesterday and the Pupin of today we find chiefly a great intelligent curiosity, an ability to see and interpret natural phenomena, and an indomitable spirit. Pupin came to this country for his education, and in 1883 graduated from Columbia University. Since then he has taken his Ph.D. from the University of Berlin, and has received two honorary degrees, one from Columbia University and one from Johns Hopkins University.

As professor of electro-mechanics at Columbia University, Dr. Pupin has become world-famous. Besides being the newly elected president of the A. A. S., he is a member of the New York Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, the American Physical Society, the American Mathematical Society, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and is on the Executive Committee of the National Research Council.

One very interesting aspect of the life of Dr. Pupin was brought out by President Lewis in a recent speech on education. He said: "Michael Pupin in his masterly book, 'From Immigrant to Inventor,' shows what such powers properly developed may do. As a boy in Serbia it was his duty, with other youths, to guard the oxen against cattle thieves at night. Here he was taught to signal by sticking a long-handled knife in the ground and striking it. His companion, rods away, with ear on the ground, caught the signal and answered. The young peasant boy, pondering through the years on this phenomena of the transmission of sound through the hard earth, ultimately invented electrical appliances which have made possible the greatest advances in telephonic communication, and for which the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has paid great sums. Thousands of peasant boys have signaled as Pupin did; only one made the most of his powers of observation. That is what distinguishes the real scientist from the time-server in the laboratory. The latter has eyes, but he sees not; ears, but he hears not. The former hears and sees and interprets."

EIGHTEEN MADE HAPPY WITH CHRISTMAS BARREL

Contributions From Student Body Grew So Large Several Were Benefited

Eighteen deserving persons were made extremely happy on Christmas Day as a result of the Christmas barrel placed in Dean Rose's office just before the holidays. Originally intended for but one needy family with five children, the contents of the contributions by students grew to such proportions that others were included.

In addition to an overflowing barrel of toys, clothes and other useful articles, a total of $50 in cash was contributed by the students. The barrel and its contents were turned over to the Juvenile Protective Association to be given to the family for which it was originally intended. Of the money contributed $15 was given to a girl student in the University who was very much in need of financial assistance, and the remaining $35 was turned over to the Juvenile Protective Association. Fifteen dollars of this was used for buying a Christmas dinner for the family for which it was contributed, and the other $20 was used for a Christmas dinner for another very deserving family of nine.

After these contributions had been disposed of another case was found where a girl of 16, with no means of support except her 18-year-old sister, was seriously injured and in need of a wheel chair. The Pan-Hellenic Association assessed every sorority girl in school 25 cents, raising enough to purchase the crippled girl a wheel chair and give her $20 in cash. Charles I. Corby, a member of the Board of Trustees, then agreed to give the crippled girl a radio for Christmas, but after purchasing the radio it was found that the girl already had one.

However, an aged invalid lady was found who had no means of support except a small pension, and the radio was given to her.

PROF. BENNER ATTENDS MEETING OF ECONOMISTS

Asst. Prof. Claude L. Benner, of the Economics Department, attended the meeting of the American Economists' Association held in Chicago during the Christmas holidays and read a paper before the Farm Economics Section.

In his paper, which was entitled "Banking Legislation and Agriculture," Professor Benner showed that our banking laws have been very generous in their treatment of agriculture, and that the industry has more credit institutions to serve it than any other institution in the country. He pointed out, however, that there are still certain sections of the country that are suffering from insufficient credit facilities, and as a remedy for this condition he suggested a fuller inclusion of country banks in the Federal Reserve System.

Professor Benner is a newcomer at George Washington this year, coming to the University very highly recommended. He has taught for several years and is in close touch with the economic condition of the Middle West.

BUREAU HEAD ADDRESSES CIVIL ENGINEERS' MEETING

The Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers met Tuesday evening, December 23. The principal speaker of the evening was C. D. Sales, of the Bureau of Standards, who spoke on "The Building of a Tube Through Erie, Pa., to Take Care of Flood Waters in Mill Creek." Mr. Polk gave a short lecture on the work on the new conduit from Great Falls. Hill and Kinney volunteered to give student talks at the next meeting.

TO MEET THURSDAY

The Episcopal Club will meet Thursday evening, January 8, at 8 o'clock, in Room 29 of Corcoran Hall. All students of the Episcopal faith are invited to attend.

CENTRAL HIGH CLUB PLAN OPENING HOP

By-Laws Written And Permanent Committee Chairmen Are Appointed

PROVIDE CLUB REGISTER

Not More Than One Officer Will Be Elected From Each School

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Central Club, held in Corcoran Hall Monday, December 29, by-laws were formulated and committee chairmen appointed.

Plans were also made for a mixer to be held some time in the near future. The dance will be unique in that it will be opened with a crossword puzzle contest, with a prize for the victor. The University Orchestra will probably furnish the music for the event, which will be given in the new gymnasium. Arrangements were also made for a closed dance to be held at the end of the school year.

A resolution was adopted providing that hereafter no two officers of the club be elected from the same college of the University. This provision is designed to enlarge the sphere of activity and membership of the society.

Regular meetings will be held on the first Thursday of each month. The club will not meet in January, because of approaching examinations. Election of officers will be held at the first meeting of each school year.

Committee chairmen appointed were: E. H. Klein, Social Committee; Robert S. Ward, Finance Committee; Edith Finney, Register Committee; and Robert Albright, Publicity Committee. The officers and standing committee chairmen will constitute an advisory committee. A special committee was also created to select a pin to submit to the society for its approval.

A register will be filed in the library, containing the signatures of all members of the club. This record will only be accessible to officers of the club.

Any graduate of Central High School, in good standing at George Washington, is eligible to membership. After his election, the applicant is permitted to sign the register, formally making him a member of the club.

LOCAL S. A. E. CHAPTER WINS SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Has Highest Scholastic Average Of All Chapters In Gamma Province

The local chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon brought George Washington University to the front at their recent national convention by winning the Province Gamma scholarship cup for 1923-24. During the same period Province Gamma, which is made up of the District of Columbia, Virginia, and North and South Carolina, won and now holds the national scholarship cup.

Holding the Province scholarship cup in a Province that has the national scholarship cup is a feat of which the members of Washington City Rho are very proud. The cup becomes the property of any chapter holding it for three successive years, so the local boys have decided that the cup now being competed for will remain here permanently.

Subscriptions or requests for information should be directed to Edwin S. Bettelheim, business manager, 319 Metropolitan Bank Building.

ENGINEERING PROFESSOR INITIATED BY ACACIA

Three Students Also Initiated By Local Chapter During Holidays

Prof. James H. Platt, of the Engineering College, was initiated by the Acacia Fraternity on January 2. Professor Platt is an assistant professor of mechanical engineering. At the same time Clark Martin, Elmer Tarwater and John Loehler were initiated. The following visiting Acacians were present: Fremont P. Wirth, of the Chicago Chapter; Harvey J. MacAloney, of the Syracuse Chapter; David H. Sibbitt, of the Michigan Chapter; Allen W. Boyce, of the Kansas State Chapter; Harold B. Teegarden, of the Columbia Chapter; Edwin E. Honey and Marcus A. McMaster, of the Cornell Chapter. After the initiation the newly initiated brothers were conducted to the dining hall where a buffet luncheon awaited them.

W. Elmer Ekblaw, grand secretary of the Acacia Fraternity, visited the George Washington Chapter, 1719 Eye Street N. W., during the holidays. The Acacia Fraternity celebrated the holidays with a dance on December 25 and another on December 31. The Christmas dance, which was informal, was enjoyed by all, and among the honored guest was Santa Claus himself with toys for all. The New Year's dance was formal, but as the old year went out and the new year came in, all formality was forgotten, as each tried to make more noise than the other.

A committee has been appointed from both the Law School Senate and the Women's Legal Club, with Teresa V. Haley, who is a member of both organizations, as general chairman of the dance. Offers from several of the best orchestras in town are being considered, and good music is assured.

The dance will be open to students, faculties and friends of all departments of the University. Tickets have already been placed on sale and may be secured from the members of the Law School Senate, the members of the Women's Legal Club or at the Law School office.
